Hi Geethika,

Glad to hear it I think the bars are my favourite as well.

I'm sure adding another icon for at home wouldn't be a problem, I'll mock up a version and send it through to make sure you like it. Access to these elements would be the same as our old version (with a right click).

Also the top navigation button group already has a white hover effect :) We are currently working on updating our live version and should be able to link you to that within the next week for you to test run.

Cheers,
Dan

Hi Daniel,

Personally I'd prefer the option 1 (a coloured bar to indicate the client).

Tent to indicate out of office is a nice touch; in the same line of thought, can we have two icons; one to indicate "at client site" and the other to say "working from home"; But don't bother if its too much work and/or complicate your design. Also how are you setting this state?

The mouse hover colour is good; would be a good idea to add a hover action to the week/month/manage buttons as well, if you haven't done that already

I'll get back to you re backlog prioritization tonight;

Cheers,

Hello Grant and Geethika,

Dan has done some sketches showing what different coloured options for clients could look like. Do you two prefer the whole block coloured, the left side coloured or the coloured dots?

Let us know, and we can get working on implementing before our next meeting.

Regards,

Tristan Kells
